

EMMETT DALTON'S APPEAL TO BANDIT ROY GARDNER

"You're a Fool If You Do Not Surrender Right Now"—"I'm Not Trying to Trap You When I Say That"—Such Are the Appeals Made to Fugitive

(By International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Emmett Dalton, last of the notorious Dalton bandit gang, today urged Roy Gardner, train robber, who escaped from guards taking him to the federal prison at McNeil's island to surrender.

Dalton served 14 years of a life sentence and was pardoned. Since then he has reestablished himself in society and is a Southern California business man. Dalton's appeal, written for the International News Service, follows:

By Emmett Dalton, Former Outlaw and Last of the Dalton Bandit Gang.

"Roy Gardner, you're a fool if you don't surrender right now.

"I'm not trying to trap you when I say that. I know what I am talking about and I think you know it.

"Let me tell you something straight—you can't get away with it.

"You've been caught twice and you've escaped both times. The Dalton boys thought they could get away with it. The end came at Coffeyville, when we attempted a double bank robbery. My two brothers were shot and killed. I was wounded and captured.

"Now, understand, I'm writing this only to help you because I know what you're up against better than few men alive today do.

"Suppose you make your 'getaway' and are at liberty for one, two, five or ten years, what's the use of it? When they get you, then they're going to see that you land in the penitentiary and stay there.

"Besides, you're an outlaw. Every hand is against you. Every door closed to you. The only way you can earn your living is by crime. And, what's going to happen? In some robbery you'll kill someone. That's murder and it means death to you.

"Another thing—you have a wife, a good, true wife. She thinks it would have been better if you had gone on to the penitentiary. She says she'll wait for you.

"Surrender and I'll do my best to help you. Surrender and you'll never regret it."

EFFORT TO PROVIDE QUARTERS FOR C. OF C.

Owen Emery, who was engaged to incorporate the Citizens' Building company, composed of Glendale citizens, reports that his task has been completed and a permit has been granted by the state corporation commissioner to sell $30,000 of 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

The building which the company proposes to erect will be a first class two-story store and office structure located on the second lot north of Harvard street on the east side of Brand boulevard. The first floor will be devoted to store rooms and the second to offices with a banquet room and kitchen in addition.

Mr. Emery states that the demand for rentals has exceeded the space that will be available and the company has reason to feel very optimistic. There has long been need for a building in the center of the city which would contain rest rooms for tourists, a bureau of information where displays of our industries could be made, and where banquets could be held by the many clubs and other organized bodies in our city.

One of the objects of the company in undertaking this project was to provide quarters for the chamber of commerce and for the banquets and forums held under its auspices. The chamber is not erecting the building but is expected to be a tenant.

Mrs. J. R. Maxwell of 202 West Park avenue, had as her guest Tuesday, Miss Margaret McMenneny, of Oxford, Ill. Miss McMenneny is in Los Angeles for the summer.

HONOR THE FLAG

The Glendale Daily Press struck a responsive chord in its offer of a beautiful bunting flag with each yearly subscription paid in advance. All we could procure at that time were speedily taken and many applied for the flags after the supply had been exhausted. To satisfy these demands we have ordered a new supply, and these will be given on the same terms as were the first. The Daily Press is not doing this as a money-making proposition, for the flags are quite costly and the paper is worth every cent asked for it, but we desire to do our bit toward stimulating patriotism and reverence for the flag. We hope to eventually see "Old Glory" displayed in every Glendale home, and we want to do our part toward bringing this about.

Fill out the coupon below and bring it or mail it to the office, accompanied with $5 for a year's advance subscription, and a flag will be laid away for you. If in arrears, pay to date and a year in advance to get the flag.

Famed Continental Dies

(By International News Service)
WORCESTER, Mass., June 15.—James F. Bagin of Worcester, for years the central figure in the famous tableau of "The Spirit of 1776" that headed the Worcester Continentals in every parade, is dead, aged 55.

He, together with his son, won national fame for the Continentals in parades at the inaugurations of Presidents of the United States and in many other cities on many occasions.

PASSENGER TRAIN IS WRECKED BY FLOOD IN NEBRASKA

Bridges Weakened by Torrents of Water and Give Way Under Weight

SIX PASSENGERS KILLED

Accident Occurs Near Crawford, Neb.—Injured Are Rushed to Omaha

(By International News Service)
OMAHA, Neb., June 16.—Loss of life in the wreck of the eastbound Chicago and Northwestern train No. 606 from Lander, Wyo., to Omaha and Chicago, which early today plunged into Cottonwood creek near Crawford, Neb., is not expected to reach more than six. Early reports of the disaster were found to be exaggerated.

"A cloudburst occurred late last night causing a sudden rise of Cottonwood creek at a bridge two miles east of Whitney, causing weakening of this bridge. Train No. 261, westbound, passing over this bridge at 8:30 p. m., observed no high water.

At 11 p. m., passenger train No. 606, consisting of mail, baggage, smoker and sleeper, was derailed at the bridge. Engineer reports the bridge appeared all right when entering on to it. When he had nearly passed over the bridge appeared to sag suddenly, the engine breaking away from the tender, and remaining on the track, 600 feet east of the bridge. The tender is 100 feet east of the bridge on its side. The mail, baggage car and smoker lay on the bank at the east end.

"The seriously injured were removed to the state hospital at Hot Springs, N. D."

V. M. Buck, Grand Island, Wyo. Harry Bosnor, Lander, Wyo. S. M. Stewart, Gordon, Neb. R. S. Scott, train baggageman. The bridge over a small stream collapsed as the train was passing over it, the dispatch said.

The seriously injured were: J. N. Leslie, Springfield, Mo.; W. Goodell, Chadron, Neb., express messenger; Skiles, Chadron, mail clerk; Wm. Bryant, Blair, Neb.; D. Arnold, Chadron, Neb., news agent; W. W. White, Denver, Colo.; B. R. Lyons, Chadron, fireman; S. H. Potter, Denver.

ROY GARDNER, TRAIN BANDIT, CAPTURED TODAY NEAR CENTRALIA

(By International News Service)
CENTRALIA, Wash., June 16.—Roy Gardner, escaped mail train bandit for whom posses have been searching constantly since his escape from guards while en route to McNeill island penitentiary last Saturday, was captured at Centralia at noon today. Although disguised he was recognized and taken into custody. He is now in the Centralia jail.

Police headquarters stated the bandit was taken from a rooming house. His face and hands were bandaged in an effort to hide his identity, but he was not injured in any way.

Gardner's capture ends a man hunt in which several officers, railroad agents, county and state officials and hundreds of citizens have participated in for the past six days. His arrest at Centralia was the first intimation of officers had that he was in that part of the state, some 35 miles north of Castle Rock where the hunt had been centered.

PRICE COMPARISON DECLARED TO BE UNFAIR

Southern California Is Not Alone in High Prices of Milk

Glendale dairymen contend that the list of comparative milk prices run by the Daily Press, is misleading, because while some cities in the United States are lower than others, some are just as high as the local prices.

The Daily Press believes in absolute fairness; hence we hasten to state the gentleman's contention that "there are others" just as high in their prices is entirely correct; and, we add, we knew all along that Glendale and Southern California had no monopoly on milk monopolies.

The contention that other places also have exorbitant milk prices only goes to show that other places, too, have milk combines.

DR. HENRY E. BOYER SUFFERS SEVERE INJURY TO BACK FROM FALL

While responding to a call from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kincy at the corner of Louise and Elk streets, Dr. H. E. Boyer was attacked this morning by the Kincy dog and in trying to defend himself fell and was so badly hurt that an ambulance was called to remove him to the Glendale sanitarium. It was at first feared that his back might have been broken but examination showed it was only a severe wrench that will confine the doctor to the hospital for a few days, but is not likely to prove a lasting hurt.

A. DILTS HONOREE AT SURPRISE DINNER

Mrs. Dilts Entertains Friends and Relatives in Celebration of His Birthday

A. Dilts, of 311 Doran street, was the guest of honor at a surprise party given by Mrs. Dilts last evening in celebration of his birthday. The home of the hostess was beautifully decorated with flowers, and the table appointments were charming. Two handsome birthday cakes, one adorned with candles, featured the dessert course, one of which the honoree cut with his own hands.

Covers were laid for Mrs. L. D. Reddon, sister of Mrs. Dilts; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gardiner, Miss Winkler, Miss Dix, Mrs. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. John Mason, of Long Beach, their son, Leon Mason, and the host and hostess.

Following the dinner was a pleasant evening of cards and music.

Too Much "Berry"

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 16.—Mrs. Mary Berry recently won a suspended sentence from Magistrate Dale, in the Bridge Plaza court, by her quick wit when arraigned on a charge of intoxication. The following colloquy took place.

"What's your name?"
"Mary Berry."
"Where do you live?"
"Forty-one Berry street."
"What did you get drunk on?"
"Berry wine."
"There's a good deal of 'berry' in this case," remarked the magistrate.
Mrs. Berry answered:
"Yes, your honor; if you'll give me a suspended sentence I'll promise to be 'berry' good hereafter."
"Sentence suspended."

Happy Pair Leave for Two-Months' Honeymoon Trip to Berkeley

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hurlbert of 348 West Park avenue was the scene of a very pretty home wedding last night, when their daughter, Miss Caryl Hurlbert, became the bride of Newell T. Vincent of Hollywood.

Miss June Hurlbert, sister of the bride, had charge of the floral decorations and the setting she created for the ceremony was rarely beautiful. From a canopy of strands of ivy was suspended a wedding bell of ferns and white carnations and before this hung a parted curtain composed of festoons of smilax knotted with clusters of blue plumbago and pink carnations. Airy, dainty and Frenchy, it was as charming a creation as ever left the hand

LUNCHEON FOR GUEST FROM JAPAN

Mrs. Grover Adams of West Maple street entertained today with a small informal luncheon in honor of Mrs. F. H. Boynton, recently returned from the Orient where she has been teaching in the schools of Japan. The guests at the flower decked and prettily appointed table were all close friends of the honoree and included Mrs. Walter Stamps, Mrs. Merrill Russell, Mrs. Mae Rosenberg and Mrs. Mamber. These old friends will spend a social afternoon with the hostess and Mrs. Boynton over their needlework.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB GIVES LAST PROGRAM OF YEAR

The last program of the Tuesday Afternoon club year was a recital and pianologue by Ann Thompson, an entertainer of world-wide reputation and inimitable personality.

Her program included two Beethoven numbers, the much loved Paderewski "Minuet," Liszt's "Etude in D Flat," an original arrangement of the Mendelssohn "Wedding March," and two exquisitely played Grunwald numbers, the "Flute God" and the "Rain Ceremony." "Betty's Music Box" (Bond), Zucca's "Valse Brillante" and a number of pianologues, including "The Cushman Hop" and "Juba."

Quaint of attire and as pretty as her name, this versatile and volatile entertainer added new laurels to those she had gained at her appearance before the club last year.

Lincoln Hart, founder of the Ethical Motion Picture Society, explained its purpose, stating that its influence would be used against the salacious, suggestive picture; that its purpose was to encourage and popularize the clean, wholesome, purposeful picture and to preserve the ideals of Americanism. Mr. Hart's talk was received with attentive interest by the large audience.

ATTORNEY ALBERT D. PEARCE ADVISES HOW TO FINANCE

Recommends Plan to Tuesday Afternoon Club Which Was Followed by Local Elks' Lodge—Issuance of Note Certificates Preferred to Bond Issue

In view of the intention of the Tuesday Afternoon Club to build on the three lots it acquired a few months ago on North Brand boulevard, its board of directors appealed to the law firm of Evans & Pearce for advice relative to methods of financing a club house.

A letter from Mr. Pearce was read at the club meeting Tuesday afternoon which went into the question quite exhaustively and which will be considered in detail at the coming annual club luncheon. In this letter Mr. Pearce said:

"I assume that you now hold without incumbrance the club lots, located at Brand and Lexington drive, on which you propose to erect your building or buildings.

"I further assume that your method of financing the construction is as follows: You propose to secure a building loan by way of a first mortgage to be executed to a bank or banks on their nominees, in the sum of $25,000, and that you propose to raise by solicitation among your members all amounts necessary over and above the $25,000 building loan, either in the form of bonds or note certificates to be issued by the corporation and delivered to those members who advance money for said purpose.

"Because of the expense involved as well as because of the involved procedure, I would strongly recommend the avoidance by the club of a bond issue if possible, and the issuance by the club of what may be described as note certificates which are practically the same as bonds but which may be issued in serial numbers of equal amounts, all secured by one trust deed, effecting a second lien or incumbrance on your real estate, and simply protecting the members who loan money thereon. I may add that this latter method was that chosen by the local lodge of Elks when financing plans for erecting their building were determined upon. At that time we submitted our plans to the corporation commissioner of the state of California, whose ruling then was that no petition would have to be filed before him in order to secure

GRADUATES RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS AT GLENDALE THEATRE

The members of the senior class of the local high school will receive their diplomas at the commencement exercises, which are to be held this evening at the Glendale theatre at 8 o'clock. The use of the theater is being donated by W. A. Howe, manager.

The program will be as follows: Organ recital by Frank Lanterman and then the processional. The combined Senior Glee clubs will sing and Margaret Stuckwisch and Flora Kenny will give piano duets. Perry W. Weidner, banker and publicist, will then give the commencement address, "Civil Usefulness." Next will be piano solos by Constance Braasch; presentation of Class Memorial, by Wilbur Johns, class president; solos by Joe Rhoades, accompanied by Constance Domsler; presentation of the graduation class by George U. Moyse, principal; presentation of diplomas by Dr. Henry V. Brown, president of the board of trustees; and the Recessional, March, played by Frank Lanterman.

The class officers are: Wilbur Johns, president; Esther Black, vice president; Dean Culberson, secretary, and Phil Begue, treasurer. The red rose is their class flower and the class colors are red and green, which were displayed so well in the Stylus.

COMMENCEMENT AT UNIVERSITY OF REDLANDS

Mattison B. Jones has returned from a stay of several days at Redlands whither he was called by his duties as president of the board of trustees of Redlands University, an office to which he has just been re-elected and which he has held since the founding of the institution 13 years ago. This was commencement week and 32 were graduated, the largest class in the history of the school which is in a highly flourishing condition with the brightest of prospects. Three buildings of reinforced concrete have been completed during the school year—a science hall which cost $160,000 and which is admitted to be one of the finest in the United States, the Fairmont hall for girls and the Fairmont hall for boys, which cost $100,000 each. So great has been the increase in attendance that right now another dormitory for boys is needed, Mr. Jones says.

TOMORROW A SAD DAY FOR SOME STUDENTS

Tomorrow will be a sad day for some of the students of the local high school, when the report cards for the last semester's work are given out. A two reel comedy has been obtained from Albert Hewitt to cheer up some of these sad hearts after the fatal hour. It is one of Harold Lloyd's comedies and will be shown in the high school auditorium about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Hewitt has also had charge of the electrical work for all of the plays that were put on by the students this past year.

DOES DEMAND REGULATE PRICE?

The claim made by Glendale dairymen that the law of supply and demand regulates the price of milk is refuted by the statement of milk distributors in Los Angeles themselves. They admit there is more milk than they can sell at present exorbitant prices, yet they refuse to allow the public to buy it at a reasonable price.

"If we lowered the price," they say, "we couldn't sell much more milk"—an argument held by authorities to be irreconcilable with good sense and sound judgment.

According to information from the district attorney's office, new milk producers and others throughout the county who wished to increase their production have been met with the statement that an increase in production is not desired.

These are the men who, according to Glendale dairymen, make the prices of milk for Glendale as well as for the rest of the county!

There are families, even in prosperous Glendale, where little children are suffering from malnutrition from lack of sufficient milk in their diet, or even, in some cases, from an entire lack of milk. These families could buy milk if it were dropped to a reasonable price. But the distributors' combine prefers to prevent an increase in production in order to keep the prices up, because "If we lowered the price, we couldn't sell much more milk!"

SHAKESPEARE MORE VULGAR 'STUFF' THAN CHAPLIN FILMS

By EARL C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
LONDON, June 15.—Shakespeare has nothing on Charlie Chaplin. Or, perhaps he has. He's more "vulgar."

Norman Wilkinson says so. Norman isn't a movie producer, promoter, scenario writer or anything like it. Except that, in a fractional way of speaking, he's about to be an exhibitor.

Norman Wilkinson might even be rated with the highbrows. He designed the scenery and costumes for Granville Barker's Shakespearean productions. Moreover, he's one of the governors of the Shakespeare memorial hall at Stratford-on-Avon.

Whence all the trouble starts. The memorial hall doesn't make its way. It isn't endowed. So, for gross monetary reasons, it was decided, between annual festivals to the immortal bard, to turn his memorial into a movie show.

What a howl among the highbrows that started! 'Twas rank sacrilege, vulgar commercialism, unthinkable, incredible, impossible and any number of other things, all interrupted freely by exclamation points. Unnumbered letters to the editor were written and printed about it.

Naturally, Charlie Chaplin was freely used in a more or less unflattering manner for purpose or argument. One gathered that the Bard of Avon would turn in his grave, rise and haunt the lives of the governors on and forever after that first great night when Charlie's eccentric trousers invaded the sacred precincts of the memorial hall.

One gathers also that Norman Wilkinson got rather fed-up with those attackers who used Charlie as ammunition. He tossed Charlie back again into the very teeth of his tormentors.

See Shakespeare for Vulgarly
For he cites his reasons for voting for the Movie-on-Avon proposal thus: "I cannot see anything vulgar in a photograph, even when it moves. There are dozens of photographs in the memorial theater already."

"Having been a patron of Shakespeare festivals for a consecutive 24 years, I have seen performances of 'The Taming of the Shrew,' 'The Merry Wives of Windsor' and other of Shakespeare's plays that would make a Charlie Chaplin film seem innocent and beautiful—which it is."

"The memorial is a bigish building and unless the government or the British public care to endow it, the governors have to devise a means to have it scrubbed and dusted."

"Lastly, may I say, here is a fine opportunity which those who have the trust of this theater in their hands have given—who is going to be the Shakespeare of the movies?"

"English films are developing. Now is the time for someone to come forward and give a festival film."

But that wasn't "lastly," though it was the end, perhaps, of what he first intended to say. He added a whip-snapper for the haggling highbrows:

"And if it is a question of vulgarity, I must only say: 'Read Shakespeare.'"

Mute Invents Alarm Clock

(By International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., June 16.—Elza Cretzer, a Denver mute, worried because he overslept, so he "invented" a contrivance that works as an alarm clock, assuring his rising at the desired hour. Cretzer made a block of wood in the shape of a letter "T," the top of which is wrapped in heavy folds of cloth. The arm of the "T" is set under a wire that is connected with an alarm clock over Cretzer's bed. When the alarm goes off the winding screw strikes the wire, releasing the block of wood, which tumbles down and strikes Cretzer on the head. "The best alarm clock I ever had," Cretzer says.

Stops Runaway Car

(By International News Service)
OMAHA, June 8.—When James Hanley's automobile started to coast down hill from in front of the Hanley home at 4160 Cumming street with only 2-year-old Thomas Hanley in it, his brother John, who is 5 years old, jumped on the running board of the car, climbed in and put on the emergency brake and succeeded in stopping the car after it had gone a block.

"When I parked the car I neglected to put on the brake," said Mrs. Hanley. "The baby was playing in the car alone when it started down the hill. John, who was the first to see it go, ran out and stopped it about a block from the house. He knows all about the running of the car from watching us drive it, so it was easy for him after he once got in."

SUPREME COURT IS CHALLENGED BY LABOR

(By International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., June 16.—An amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the United States Supreme Court or any other Federal court from passing on the constitutionality of an act of congress after it becomes a law will be asked by organized labor following a recommendation made today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

The executive council in its report declares the power of federal courts to pass on the constitutionality of laws made by congress "is one of the greatest menaces to measures intended to remedy evils in our government."

Unions picketing and other strike tactics which they use will be legalized under the Federal law and courts prohibited from granting injunctions in any case involving or growing out of a dispute over conditions of labor or terms of employment, if another measure recommended to-day by the executive council and to be sponsored in congress by organized labor becomes a law. The measure also provides immunity from indictment or prosecution of any person who enters into any agreement or combination for the purpose of regulating wages, hours or working conditions.

Edison, Jr., Lectures

BOSTON, June 16.—Thomas A. The public was admitted to hear Edison. The address is one of a series arranged for former service men.

The proposed law is designed to restore the "labor rights" eliminated by the Supreme Court in its recent decision on the Clayton act and to protect the unions in event, the court's decision in the case of the Coronado Coal Company against the United Mine Workers of America is unfavorable to labor. If the decision sustains the grounds of the suit the collective bargain will become unlawful and employers will have the right to seize union funds as strike damages, according to the annual report of the executive council, which reviews the case.

It declares suits will be begun in every state where coal is mined and charges that the coal operators of several states have already refused to operate the machinery provided for in the agreements with the coal miners for the collection of assessments to aid the striking miners in West Virginia.

The council recommends that the American Federation of Labor pledge full support and aid to John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and the other officials of the organization, who are under indictment in Indianapolis in proceedings which grew out of the coal strike.

WOMAN IS HELD FOR HUSBANDS' MURDER

(By International News Service)
TWIN FALLS, Idaho, June 16.—Mrs. Lydia Southard, who stands accused of murdering the four husbands who preceded her present husband, a petty officer in the United States Navy, has arrived here from Honolulu via San Francisco in the custody of Sheriff H. V. Ormsby, of this city, to await trial in the October session of the Twin Falls Court.

She is also accused of murdering her 16-months-old daughter and a brother-in-law.

Mrs. Southard is a slender, colorless little woman with gray eyes that lack anything but ordinary expression. Her smile is warm and she carries herself gracefully. Mrs. Southard, those who have seen her agree, is the last person one would select as a possible wholesale murderess.

Mrs. Southard is anxious to escape interviewers. Throughout the long trip across the Pacific and up from San Francisco to this little city in the sagebrush, Mrs. Southard has maintained a perfect calm. "I am not worried," she said in answer to a question. "Why should I be? I have a clear conscience and documentary proof of the cause of death of my husbands and little Lorraine Marie, my baby."

Little Lorraine Marie was the daughter of her first marriage, her husband having been Robert C. Doolley, a Missourian.

Mrs. Southard has asserted that her husbands died from disease, which she admits might have been contracted from her as a carrier. The charges against her allege murder by poison.

permit to issue these note certificates though his permit would be necessary in order to effect a bond issue.

"A new corporation commissioner is in charge of the office in California now, and it might be advisable after determining your procedure to discuss the matter informally with him."

"Should you follow the plan outlined it will be necessary for your board of directors and for your members at a regular meeting to pass a resolution authorizing the creation of a first mortgage indebtedness of $25,000, and a further resolution authorizing the execution by the directors of a trust deed to secure the payment of note certificates in serials above outlined. Though not necessary, it would be most advisable because of the showing that could be made before the court, to have said resolution passed by more than a majority vote of the full membership."

"After the resolutions are passed, the board of directors must cause to be filed with the clerk of the superior court of this county, a verified petition describing the property affected and showing that the mortgaging and incumbering of said property is for the best interests of the corporation, and praying the court for leave to so mortgage and incur the real estate. Thereafter the court will make an order reciting that said leave has been prayed for, describing the property so affected and fixing a time and place for the hearing of the petition. Copies of said order must be kept posted conspicuously for a period of ten days on the real property affected as well as some conspicuous place in the court house and some other public place in the county, where the court shall direct.

"At the time set for the hearing the court will require proof that said notice has been faithfully given as well as require some members of the board of directors of the corporation to appear and testify, and at said hearing, any member of your organization may appear and oppose or support the granting of the leave to mortgage and incur."

"If the court is satisfied that it is for the best interest of the club to grant the petition by formal order, said leave will be granted and the corporation or club be authorized to incur the indebtedness."

"From the foregoing it is evident that your club should at a general meeting and by such vote as is provided by the by-laws, pass a resolution specifically authorizing the creating of the original mortgage indebtedness as well as the trust deed incumbrance, and pass a further resolution authorizing its officials to cause to be signed, verified and filed with the court, a petition asking leave to create such indebtedness."

OPPOSITE CITY HALL

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. G. H. Marsh of 1249 South Central avenue had as her guests Tuesday Mrs. J. W. Cotton of this city and an old friend of Mrs. Cotton's, Mrs. R. W. Seay and son, of Los Angeles.

R. C. Smith and mother, Mrs. E. J. Smith of 434 Milford street, are back from a motor trip to Yosemite. They were accompanied by Roy Ray and family, of Hollywood, and were gone about ten days.

R. H. Kimball of 315 West Garfield avenue, has gone to San Francisco in company with about 100 others from Southern California, to attend the national convention of the Credit Men's association.

Mrs. Sarah Stewart and son, of 817 North Louise street, will start Saturday for Washington. They expect to be gone during the summer, but will return this fall. The trip will be made by motor, in company with friends from Pasadena.

Mrs. A. D. Chase of 400 Riverdale drive recently entertained a number of friends of her daughter, Cecil, in honor of her fourteenth birthday. The house was artistically decorated. Music and games were favorite pastimes of the afternoon.

Willard Learned, who graduated from Occidental college last week, will preach at the Oceanside Christian church next Sunday. He will spend the summer preaching there and at other points and will go to the College of Missions next fall to prepare for the foreign mission field.

The Sunday school of the First Baptist church will give their annual picnic at Montrose park. They will all meet at the church, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. A good time is assured, for Mr. Howard and Mr. Hatchet are on the committee. Special cars have been arranged for and ice cream and lemonade will be had for all present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nance, of Sunland, motored to Riverside on business Wednesday. They left their little daughter, Helen Betty, with the Rowleys, 334 Vine street, for the day. Mrs. Rowley is a cousin of Mrs. Nance. The Nances are preparing to move to Coachella valley, where they have purchased a large cotton ranch, which they are planning to plant in part, at least, to grapes and dates. They will be greatly missed at Sunland.

Tuesday evening June 14, Miss Mildred Thompson and some friends, returning from a visit with a girl friend, attempted to make a quiet entrance at Miss Thompson's home, on West Vine street, but upon opening the door they made a most deafening racket. Some mischievous individual, whose identity is still unknown, had built up a barricade of tin pans and cans. After getting in, they had a jolly time with music and a taffy pull. Those present were Misses Josephine Farnum, Alice Farrel, Mildred Thompson, and Clarence Hall, Neil McIver and Paul Edmonds.

In honor of Mrs. Farrell of Oakland, Mrs. Anna Goss of 516 East Harvard street entertained a number of friends at dinner Tuesday evening. Pink roses and ferns were artistically used in the decorations.

Misses Sara and Mary Louise Toll of 232 North Louise street, are spending two weeks at Balboa.

Mrs. Mary Archer, who was one of the guests of honor at the surprise farewell reception at Mrs. Eva Hutten's home Tuesday evening, leaves Saturday by boat for Portland, Ore., where she will visit relatives a few days, then going to Weed, Calif., at the foot of Mt. Shasta to make her home. Three brothers live there and she will keep house for two of them, who are unmarried. Lyle will make the trip by train.

Mrs. F. M. Elliott received word yesterday that her daughter, Miss Lulu Garton, had landed in America on a furlough from the China mission field, and is now visiting in eastern cities. She will start west soon and after visiting Kansas relatives, will come to Glendale to spend a few months with her mother, Mrs. Elliott, and her sister, Mrs. Clifford A. Cole. Miss Eva Garton, another sister who has been spending a few months in Caney, Kan., will probably return to Glendale in her company.

Edgar Lloyd Smith, regional director of religious education for the Christian churches of California, Arizona, Nevada and the Hawaiian Islands, arrived at home yesterday noon from a two weeks' trip in the northern part of the state. He lives at 504 Fairmont. He was at home only four hours, departing then for a two weeks' trip to San Francisco and other northern points. Mrs. Smith's sister, Miss Minnie Tremaine, of Kansas, is with her for the summer, and another sister, Miss Stella, who will sail for China as a missionary in September, will come a little later for a farewell visit, accompanied by her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. B. Mulliken and family, who have been visiting at the F. W. Harper home, 508 Fairmont, are located at the Hotel Gray for the present, but are in the market for a home here.

Karl C. Blumberg of 351 Vine street went Monday evening to the Lincoln hospital, Los Angeles, where he underwent an operation. While the operation was not of a serious nature, his physicians feel that will not be recovered sufficiently to return home in less than two weeks. Mrs. Blumberg visited him Tuesday afternoon, then spent the night with their friend, June Rosenthal, on Olive street, Westgate Park, and was permitted to see him again on Wednesday. She reports he is doing very well.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Maxwell of 202 West Park avenue motored to Pasadena yesterday to bid farewell to Mrs. R. G. Vedder, cousin of Mrs. Maxwell, who left last evening for New York. She will be gone about three months, visiting various points of interest enroute—the Grand Canyon, Mammoth Cave in Kentucky, and others.

E. M. Armstrong, who has recently been discharged from the 283d squadron, Air Service, U. S. Army, has entered the confectionery and restaurant business at 212 1/2 South Brand boulevard.

Mrs. W. W. Price and daughter have just returned from Grand Rapids, Mich. They are residing at 1030 San Rafael street.

Still They Move

Moves in Glendale Monday were as follows: D. N. Wemyss from 924 East Windsor to 724 South San Fernando; J. A. Murfett from 515 West California; E. Page to 1030 San Rafael; George Hill to 1013 South Mariposa.

The following new buildings and residences are nearing completion: Sam Seelig, 133 North Brand; J. S. Jackson, 1229 North Pacific; C. E. Mayo, 401 Arden; W. C. Wadke, 1124 North Columbus; F. J. Fish, 1308 East Harvard; V. G. Barney, 235 North Columbus; B. Martin, 433 Salem; H. D. Lockwood, 321 West Lomita; B. J. Robinson, 344 West Windsor; E. G. Baldwin, 771 South San Fernando.

THEATERS

Palace Grand

Thursday's bill at the Palace Grand includes five great acts of Marcus Daniels in "Two Weeks With Pay."

This is not an amateur show, but an all-star performance that is sure to be a real entertainment.

"Two Weeks With Pay" is the sprightly tale of a working girl's vacation. Miss Daniels is seen in a dual role, that of the little salesgirl and a famous film actress for whom she is mistaken. But it is in the adventures of Pansy, the salesgirl, that the audience is interested.

It would be awfully hard on the store keepers and office executives of the land if all vacations ended so triumphantly for the girls and so badly for business as did Pansy's little old two weeks. But from Pansy's standpoint, her vacation was a huge success, even though it started rather inauspiciously in a mud puddle.

GOOD WORK BY
MICHIGANDERW. E. Scott Motors Across Continent to Glendale and Is Now Building Here

A few months ago W. E. Scott of Saginaw, Mich., with his wife and son started for Glendale in two automobiles. Arriving in Elysian park he camped for the night, came to Glendale at 8 o'clock the next morning and within 15 minutes had bought a lot through the South Brand Guthrie agency, who located him at 627 Vine street. There he set up a shelter tent and immediately began to build a home, at the same time securing employment (he was a master plumber), from Mr. McPeck.

So pleased was Mr. Scott with the outlook at Glendale that he induced an uncle in the east, W. E. Scott, sr., to join him in purchasing property and putting up homes.

These two have just bought through the Guthrie agency the beautiful corner at Boynton and Palmer where they will erect three attractive houses for rental or sale unless they decide to occupy them themselves. They say if this venture turns out right, they will continue to buy and build in Glendale.

This agency has also within the past few days sold the home located at 1104 Boynton, belonging to Harry Schidell to Mrs. Mary Ott of Los Angeles, who has already begun to add to the house and make general improvements. She expects it to be her permanent home. Mr. and Mrs. Ott have long been residents of Los Angeles and have only just awakened to the attractions of Glendale as a home city and good place for investment.

Puts Up Bold Front

Jack Lucas is putting on a "bold front" these days. That is he has a new front on his real estate office at 309 South Brand to bring it out to the sidewalk line. A recent sale was that of the Cook place on Justin avenue, a new house on half an acre of ground, to Miss Adda Keifer, who will occupy it at once. The Cooks are moving to Oregon.

"Clean-Up Day"

The full text of the communication transmitted to the chamber of commerce by City Manager Watson relative to the arrangements for Clean-Up Day is given herewith for the information of citizens:

June 14, 1921.

J. M. Rhoades, Secretary Chamber of Commerce:

Pursuant to the report and recommendation of joint committees representing the chamber of commerce and city appointed to make arrangements for general clean-up day for the ranged that the city will cooperate in this movement as follows.

Tuesday, the 21st instant, will be designated as "Clean-Up Day." The people of the city are requested to gather all waste matter and rubbish that is not easily combustible on their premises and place the same in the alley at the rear of their lot or place it in the street gutter on this date. City teams will gather and dispose of the same the following day. In this connection it is urged that all waste matter and rubbish that is set out to be removed be placed if possible in receptacles convenient for handling. When this is not practicable it should be placed in compact piles so as to require the least time in handling.

Your committee reported large accumulations of rubbish, tree trimmings, etc., in the alleys. It is requested that owners of abutting property gather this in piles convenient for removal. Your committee also reported large accumulations of waste matter, rubbish, etc., at the rear of business buildings in the business district. The business men are requested to have this gathered and placed in receptacles convenient for handling.

Yours sincerely,
T. W. WATSON,
City Manager.

Notice To Our Patrons

We beg to announce a reduction to 60 cents per 100 pounds in the price of ice delivered to family and retail trade in general in the City of Glendale, commencing June 15. This reduction is made possible by a general reduction in our operating and delivering costs, and it is with pleasure that we share this good fortune with our patrons.

Our ice is clean and pure, and we do not treat the Glendale city water, from which we make it with aluminum-sulphate or any other harmful chemical usually employed by manufacturers of raw-water ice. Instead, we have a modern, sanitary and efficient system of filtration, which not only purifies but softens the water, and all water runs through this filtering system before it is made into ice. Thanking you for your patronage in the past and soliciting your further orders, we remain,

Yours very truly,

Some Difference!

(By International News Service)
GOLDFIELD, NEV., June 16.—What a difference a few years make!

In 1915 Jack Dempsey fought in Tonopah and Goldfield, Nev. At that time he was living in a cabin in Goldfield, about a mile from the railway station. One night he boxed Johnny Sugenberg. The next morning "Doc" Lewis, a telegraph operator who lived next door to Jack's humble abode with a big suitcase. "Doc" was abode saw the latter leaving in his jitney bus. Noticing the size of Dempsey's suitcase he said:

"Where are you going?"
"Going to pull out," said Jack.
"Get in and I'll give you a ride," said "Doc." "That thing will get heavy before you get to the depot."

"No, that's all right," replied Dempsey. "It won't get heavy. All I have in it is a shirt and a collar button."

And today Jack has a flock of trunks, a private secretary and a luxurious limousine. What a difference a few years make!

AID IS OFFERED TO RETURN BERGDOLL

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Great War Veterans' Association of Canada is prepared to assist the American Legion in bringing Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious slacker, back to the United States, according to a letter received by the American Legion from C. G. MacNeill, Dominion secretary-treasurer of the Canadian organization, who wrote:

"I have no hesitation in stating that this association is quite prepared to do everything possible to assist the American Legion in its effort to secure the extradition of Bergdoll. It is not yet clear what action may be obtained through the Canadian Government, nevertheless, if we can be of any service to you our co-operation may be relied upon.

"Pending further advice from your organization in this matter, I will make inquiries in order to determine along what lines our energies may be most profitably directed."

The letter from the Canadian organization is in reply to a request from the American Legion relative to obtaining Bergdoll's extradition from Germany because he is alleged to have used false Canadian passports in making his escape.

MUSHROOMS RAISED IN COPPER MINE

The old Schuyler copper mine in North Arlington, N. J., where the copper for the first United States pennies was produced, and which has been abandoned for years, is producing again. The production this time is not copper, but mushrooms. For many years the mine was thought to be the habitat of snakes and very few persons ventured into its caverns. A mushroom grower, more venturesome than the rest, finally explored its levels and found there were no snakes.

The mushroom grower had the mine cleaned out and then dumped several hundred tons of fertilizer in. On the 65-foot and 100-foot levels he laid about 25,000 square feet of beds and planted them with mushroom spawn. The beds will start bearing in June.

In the winter mushrooms are easily grown in cellars, but in the summer the cellar grower has to quit on account of the higher temperature. In

ADVICE ABOUT LIVING

Any man or woman who passes the three score and ten mark with all physical and mental faculties fairly well preserved becomes something of a nauthority on longevity. The public's desire to know how such people lived is exceeded only by their willingness to divulge the secrets of a long life.

Dr. James M. Peebles of California recently celebrated the ninety-ninth anniversary of his birthday, and upon that occasion told what he believes contributed to his long life. In the first place, he is a vegetarian. "See how strong are horses and oxen," says Dr. Peebles. "They do not live on dead flesh." But, of course, the somewhat rude answer to that is that a horse or an ox spends each day about two hours eating grain and possibly four or five munching hay. The ordinary man does not care to spend so much time at the table. He cannot afford it.

Other rules adhered to by the doctor are: "Go to bed every night at 8:30. Out of bed every morning at 6. Never use tobacco. Never use intoxicating liquors. Never complain." A somewhat insincere rebuttal might be: Why would anyone want to live 99 years if he practiced self-denial to that extent?

But, seriously speaking, there is much food for thought in the observations of Dr. Peebles. The American people do not give enough consideration to their diet. They eat badly balanced meals, providing their bodies with too much food of one kind and too little of another. And they are addicted to excesses. Intemperance in pleasures is a universal trait. The joy of good health is too often forgotten simply because we neglect ourselves and do not realize what good health is.

Too many people begin at the bottom by throwing rocks at the man who is on top.

GRAVE AND GAY

Trend of Johnny's Mind

The teacher had asked the class to find out what they could about the equator for the next lesson in geography. When the class came to recite Johnny was called upon first.

"Johnny, what is the equator?" asked the teacher.

Johnny, who had forgotten to look up the matter, failed to answer.

"Who can tell us what the equator is?" urged the teacher.

"The equator is an imaginary line running around the earth," recited Fred, who had taken a sly peep into his geography while the teacher was quizzing Johnny.

"Now, Johnny, you may go to the board and write for us what you have learned about the equator."

To the teacher's astonishment this is what Johnny wrote: "The equator is a menagerie lion running around the middle of the world."

She—Before we were married you used to give me such lovely presents. You never do now.

He—I didn't have to put up with your presence the year round then.

A Problem

"In these days of equal rights, men are going to be put to a severe strain in elections."

"How so?"

"As between the opposing candidates, a fellow will have a time deciding whether he will swap his vote for a kiss or a cigar."

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

WHY DUSTIN DOESN'T SMILE

Roscoe Arbuckle, Paramount comedy star, performed a stunt the other day just for the personal thrill and pleasure there was in it. He was on location on Catalina island, 23 miles off the Los Angeles county coast. His pal, Dustin Farnum, was at the Los Angeles harbor, inspecting his new speed boat, Happy Thought! He wirelessly to Arbuckle that he would appreciate his inspection of the boat. He laughed when he thought of the reception Roscoe had given his message, "Hello, man," replied "Fatty," "I'm on location, and, besides, who cares about your old boat?" "I dare you," shouted Dustin. "Go to!" was the reply of the comedian.

Less than 30 minutes later a hydroplane skidded alongside Dustin's boat. Roscoe hailed the astonished Dustin, jumped to the deck of the speed boat and in his best drawing-room voice said, "My dear Dustin, you may let her go when ready."

Dustin was game. For 30 minutes he gave Roscoe everything he had in his speeding repertoire. Dustin was delighted. He figured on keeping Roscoe afloat until far into the night. Presently another hydroplane made its appearance and "heaved-to" alongside the boat. Roscoe gracefully stepped aboard. "Good-bye, old dear," he said, as the hydroplane headed for Catalina. "When you get a real speed boat let me know."

Twenty-eight minutes later Roscoe resumed picture-making.

ALL RIGHT FOR GERANIUMS

An English temperance lecturer displayed to his audience two geraniums. The first had been watered in the usual way. The other had been dosed with alcohol and its foliage was shriveled and sparse, its stem twisted and its vitality decayed.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," cried the lecturer, "what can you say to a demonstration like that?"

"It's all right," said a shabby man in the front row, "and if I were a geranium I'd stick to water; but, you see, I ain't a geranium."

SURPRISING

"It's surprising."

"What is?"

"How many bad things the neighbors' children do which their parents are sure they wouldn't do."

HE HAD HOPES

He was a professional conjurer. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a wave of the hand, "this is the magic cabinet. I invite any lady in the audience to enter this cabinet. I will then close the door and when it shall be opened again the lady will have disappeared, leaving no trace."

There was an impressive silence until a little undersized man in the second row turned to an enormous woman, who sat by him, and breathed eagerly:

"Marie, dear, won't you oblige the gentleman?"

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

Reducing The Doctor's Bill.

Since I awoke to the fact that I was buying from the druggist as medicine what I should have been giving to my family as food, I have reduced expenses by keeping my family well, and have seen their spirits go up and the doctor's bill go down.

Provision is made by Nature for the needs of the body at this season, and she has sent up through the soft mold of home gardens and uncultivated fields foods possessed of wonderful medicinal properties. Iron, potassium, magnesium, calcium, phosphorus and taraxacum are all used by the druggist to concoct his pills and tonics; but why should we take them in the latter form when they can be served in most delectable ways on the table? Nature's fresh green foods are filled with her health giving vigor, and while the body responds more slowly to remedies of the earth the gain lasts longer than when obtained by medicines.

Try for breakfast cutting up your left-over spinach very fine, put it in the center of the platter, then make an omelet, adding to it a few shredded red or green peppers. When cooked turn it over the spinach, which is the richest in iron of any vegetable, although dandelions and all salad plants contain large amounts of it. Or cut your cooked asparagus stalks into small pieces and stir into your omelet just before it is folded over.

Creamed asparagus served on toast with a bit or two of crisped bacon as a garnish is a good breakfast dish for this season. Asparagus is noted for its flushing properties, its stimulation of the kidneys and the assistance it gives them in carrying off the poisons of the body. Water cress furnishes sulphur, and onions have a most pronounced effect on the liver.

We do not, however, have to depend on cultivated greens, for the list of edible wild things is much more varied than one would suppose. There are the homely mustard greens, dandelions, wood and field sorrel, tender docks, and cowslips, horseradish leaves as well as chicory, purslane, milkweed, chickweed and wayside cress.

While fruit is essential at all seasons it is especially valuable as an aid to body housecleaning. Pineapples are very desirable, owing to their medicinal properties. A government official says of them: "If you have one foot in the grave and are a nervous wreck from attacks of indigestion drink plenty of pineapple juice. It is the best tonic nature has yet offered man, and is even a better weapon against old age and decrepitude than the sour milk diet that has made the Bulgarian peasants the longest-lived people on the face of the earth."

Owing to the vegetable pepsin that this fruit contains, the juice should be scalded when it is used in combination with albuminous substances, as milk, eggs and gelatin. Do not think of pineapple only as a possible salad or dessert, but try it on a breakfast omelet, folding in a cupful, either shredded or diced, and sprinkling with sugar just before serving.

Strawberries contain a combination of malic and citric acids and a group of mineral salts which are particularly good as a general tonic in cases of biliousness. Rhubarb, although really a vegetable, is most frequently used as a fruit; however, it is an invaluable blood tonic and should be often served.

Do not forget that the food of the little folks needs your special care at this season. Eliminate meat sandwiches, and use instead lettuce, peanut butter, cream cheese or egg salad, and accompany these with a fruit salad. Cherries stoned, chopped and mixed with nuts and mayonnaise are good for children. In fact, any fruit which is at hand may be turned into a salad, and at this season it is most healthful and beneficial: the olive oil in the dressing is healing and stimulating to the liver. Let simple cookies be substituted for rich cake, and with these serve fruit juice to the child.

Corset Covers from Old Waists

When waists get worn in the sleeves or around the neck cut them down and make a neat camisole or corset cover by hemming at the top. After it is cut to the proper size sew on a piece of narrow lace or crochet a few lines of neat edging. Sometimes finish them with a line of French knots or a herringbone stitch.

Protection from Cooking Odors

If a woman who does her own cooking will wear a bathing cap over her hair when frying doughnuts, pancakes, etc., she will find it protects from grease and odors and preserves the curl. They come in many attractive colors and look as good as the ordinary dust cap.

Series of Articles on Patents, Inventions, Etc.

By WILLIAM C. CUTLER of Glendale, California

REISSUED PATENTS

This class of patents form but a small percentage compared with those which are regularly issued. Above 13,000 had been issued up to 1912. Not a few have been taken by incompetent attorneys, that have proven to be expensive grants for the owner as they have been declared "invalid" owing to the claims being broadened in reissue, which is not allowed after an unexpired delay. The author has in mind a Pioneer patent which cost the company to which it was issued $25,000 before the supreme court handed down its decision that it was invalid for this reason. The purpose of the statute is to correct errors, and not to broaden claims or extend the life of the patent.

A—One which is issued after the surrender to the commissioner of a patent which has been discovered to be invalid or inoperative, "because of inadvertence (oversight), accident, or mistake, and without any fraudulent or deceptive intention."

Q—What may not the reissued patent do?

A—1. Cover any other invention.
2. Cover what was described in the specifications and after long delay not claimed.

3. Strengthen the claim, unless through actual mistake, and then not, if delay has taken place.
Q—Time allowed. How much between the date of original patent and the reissue?

A—Two Years. Longer in exceptional cases.

Q—Revision. Can it be secured if other applications or an invention of like nature are filed before revision is applied for?

A—No.
Q—Cost of filing application for reissue. What is it?

A—Government fee, $30.

PRINTS AND LABELS

Q—Prints and labels. Of what do they consist?

A—Fanciful labels for attaching to boxes, bottles and packages.
Q—More printed matter. Can they consist of such?

A—No; to be registered they must show artistic and intellectual skill.
Q—Length of grant. How long?

A—For 28 years.
Q—Government fee. What is it?

A—Six dollars.

The first lodge of Odd Fellows in the United States was established at Baltimore, Md., in 1819, to work according to the "Manchester Unity."

DISCLAIMERS

While disclaimers are usually written disavowals, as stated below, the acceptance by an inventor of a narrower claim than one he is justified in receiving from the patent office, practically acts as such.

Q—Disclaimer. What is a?

A—A paper prepared by the inventor and recorded in the patent office, making a disavowal of what he disclaims he "has claimed more than that of which he was the original and first inventor or discoverer."

Q—Balance of the patent. Is it valid?

A—Yes; "this patent should be valid, for all that part which is truly and justly his own, provided the same is a material and substantial part of the thing patented." (Patent Statutes, Sec. 4917.)

Q—Disclaimers. Why are they recorded?

A—To prevent patent failing, under what are termed statutory defenses, and to recover costs, which cannot be recovered if suit is brought and claims are decided to be too broad in view of prior patents.

Q—What is the cost of filing application for a disclaimer?

A—Government fee, $10.

Q—What is the difference between a "disclaimer" and a "reissue"?

A—Generally speaking a disclaimer limits, while a "reissue" corrects.

COPYRIGHTS

Q—Copyrights. Of what do they consist?

A—Protection afforded by the copyright law against the reproduction by others of books, maps, musical composition, cuts, engravings, prints, photographs, or negatives thereof, paintings, drawings, cromos, statues, models, or designs, not intended for use as a trade-mark or label.

Q—More ornamental nature. Does it meet the requirements of the law?

A—No. Matter to be protected under the copyright law must possess literary or artistic value.

Q—Length of copyright grant. How long?

A—For 28 years.
Q—Renewal. May it be renewed?

A—Yes, for 14 years.
Q—Cost of a copyright. What is it?

A—The total charge including attorney's fee, is usually $5. Amount stated only as a guide.

A woman 5 feet 8 inches in height should properly weigh about 155 pounds. One 5 feet 9 inches tall could reasonably weigh 163 pounds.

ANNUAL PICNIC FOR MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE

Unusually beautiful and artistic were the decorations arranged by Mrs. A. M. Rowe and her capable assistants for the annual picnic of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle at La Ramada yesterday.

The patriotic motif was carried out by means of festoons of red, white and blue, over the flag-bedecked tables, where a bountiful fresco luncheon was served under the great pepper trees, by Mrs. C. L. Vierick and her committee.

Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of entertainment, acted as toastmistress. She paid eloquent tribute to Mrs. C. H. Toll, "mother" of the circle, whose many duties prevented her presence at the circle she had founded, but who sent a letter of greeting.

When Mrs. A. A. Barton, chairman of the circle, rose to respond in her own delightful manner to the toast "Foster mother," she was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers as a mark of the appreciation of the members for her faithful work.

Mrs. Danford was unable to be present and her response to the toast "Fairy Godmother," was read.

Both Richardson D. White, superintendent of Glendale schools, and Professor G. U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale high school, responded to the toast "Big Brother."

Mrs. Archbold, chairman of the first district of the P. T. A. federation, was a special guest of the happy affair and responded to the toast "Aunt."

At the close of the luncheon, the guests gathered about the piano for a community sing and to enjoy the following program: Reading, by Mrs. Magil; vocal selection, Mrs. Darling, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Pendleton; an address on "Practical Patriotism," Mrs. H. G. Flint; vocal selection, Mrs. C. L. Vierick; reading, Mrs. C. H. Crawford.

The enjoyable day closed with the singing of "America" by the entire circle, whose members closed their labors of the summer vacation, to meet again next September.

Special guests of the day were Mrs. H. R. Archbold, of South Pasadena, president of the first district P. T. A.; Mrs. H. G. Flint, of Hynes, patriotic chairman of the first district; Mrs. E. D. Wycoff, of Wilmar, first district chairman of education.

Aurora Aids Wireless

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—Rear Admiral William H. G. Bullard, chief of the communications division of the office of naval operations, disclosed the fact that the sun apparatus and interrupted telegraphic and telephonic communication throughout the United States on Saturday, May 14, did not interfere with the operation of naval wireless communications ashore or afloat.

The magnetic tremors which interfered with land and cable communications came simultaneously with the flashings of a fine display of the aurora borealis and at a time when a large sun spot, 94,000 miles long and 21,000 miles wide in the center of the sun, was photographed at the United States naval observatory.

Just why cables and land wires should have been interfered with and radio communication not bothered, Admiral Bullard does not seek to explain. He frankly admits that he has not yet been able to solve the mystery but considers it important that on two occasions now when there have been sun spots accompanied by auroral displays radio communication instead of being interrupted has been seemingly improved during the period the sun spot aurora was active.

On other occasions, he explained today, was in March, 1920, when a remarkable aurora borealis display in Alaska was accompanied by interruption of cable service between Seattle and Alaska, without interfering in the least with radio service in Alaska.

"Veteran radio operators in Alaska have here. There have been nights when there is no auroral display whatever in Alaska there has been difficulty experienced in radio operation. You know, they have many more auroral displays in Alaska and in the far north than we seem to have here. There have been nights in Alaska when, try as hard as they can, the radio operators have been absolutely unable to jam through their radio messages. These nights are known to those operators as "black nights." Those black nights have never occurred when there was an auroral display.

"According to all I know about wireless communication, these magnetic tremors accompanying the auroral displays should interfere with the operation of wireless, but, strangely enough, there is no such interference.

San Francisco calls attention to the growth of the raisin industry. In the interest of a full understanding of the case, it may be said that the expansion began before the passage of the Volstead act.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN SENIORS ROYALLY AT PARK

Yesterday afternoon at 1:30, both the junior and senior classes of the local high school journeyed forth from the school to Brookside park for the annual Junior-Senior entertainment, at which the graduates are the guests of the next year's senior class.

Many of the "soon to be alumni" and "hope to be seniors" went in swimming at the Brookside plunge, until about 3:30, when the juniors tried for the last time to defeat the seniors in "indoor" baseball, but failed, with a score of 19 to 18 in favor of the seniors. The senior girls also defeated the junior girls, so the happy seniors will graduate tonight with full confidence of their superiority. After the ball games the boys played "eight men down" together for the last time.

At 5:30, the junior girls, who prepared the lunches, announced that dinner was served. After supper the crowd broke up, some going to shows, others to West Lake park. The seniors say that they are having the best time of their lives and wish that they could graduate every year.

Police Notes

W. P. Reynolds of 800 East Palmer, who has been losing articles from his home during the past six weeks, reports the following articles missing: One 22 caliber pump rifle, one 16-gauge double-barrel shotgun, one 45-caliber revolver, one luger automatic in leather case, one Eastman kodak, and one solid gold Eversharp pencil. A Japanese was suspected, but report investigation, no evidence was found. Thomas Conner, who pleaded guilty to the theft of clothing belonging to James Chambers and J. A. Pope, was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Lowe yesterday morning and was bound over to the superior court.

RENO INSTITUTES DIVORCE REFORM

(By International News Service)
RENO, Nev., June 16.—Picking out your favorite judge to hear the merits of your case has been a favorite indoor sport of the divorce colony here, it is said, following a conference of Judges Moran and Lunsford and E. H. Beemer, the county clerk.

The conference was made necessary because of the alleged arbitrary selection by certain attorneys of the judges to hear their cases. The practice has grown to such large proportions that it has become distasteful to the Washoe county judges, and has led to a revision of the system used in assigning divorce cases after they were filed.

Up to the present time assignments to the two departments have automatically been made as cases were filed with even numbers going into one department and odd numbers into another. It is said that some attorneys have held back cases of their clients for several days in order that the next number on the register might be favorable and the case be set before the "favorite" judge. Attaches of the clerk's office have been kept busy answering telephone calls as to the next number on the register.

The conference of the judges and clerk resulted in a change of system which will make it impossible to foretell which judge will preside when a case is called. Hereafter all cases as filed will be assigned by drawing numbers from a box. Using this system it will not be possible to tell which department will have a case.

MISSED THE IDEA

At the annual prize day of a certain school the head boy rose to give his recitation.

"Friends, Romans, countrymen," he vociferated, "lend me your ears!"

"There," commented the mother of a defeated pupil, sneeringly, "that's Mrs. Brown's boy. He wouldn't be his mother's son if he didn't want to borrow something."

TRIP AROUND WORLD IS GRADUATION GIFT

Doris Braley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Braley, is indeed a fortunate young lady.

Besides being the possessor of personal ability that enables her to be graduated from the Marlborough School for Girls at the age of 16, she has two grandfathers and two grandmothers who are deeply interested in her progress and proud of her success.

J. H. Braly, her paternal grandfather, is present at her graduation this afternoon, Mrs. Braley being unable to attend on account of illness. Doris' father is also unable to attend, for the reason that he is back east at the commencement exercises of Princeton University of which he is a graduate, and which he has not visited before in 18 years.

Doris was made happy on her graduation by the present of a very beautiful watch from Mr. and Mrs. Braley, and by the gift of a trip around the world which is the graduation trip of her other grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter Janss. They will be gone a year or more.

MR. AND MRS. VESPER ARRIVE IN VICTORIA

A postcard dated June 14, has been received by a friend of Mrs. Eva G. Vesper announcing the arrival of herself, Mr. Vesper and her granddaughter, Lois Naudain, at Victoria after a pleasant but rough trip. She writes that Victoria is a fine old place, the foliage and flowers beautiful, that they expect to reach Seattle the same evening and from there go on to Alaska.

GRAND PIANO LOANED TO LEGION

The grand piano used at the American Legion benefit, last night was generously loaned for the occasion by the Barnes-Shuck Music company. The instrument is a Behr Brothers' baby grand, the smallest instrument of the kind manufactured; it takes up no more space than the ordinary upright.

The Palace Grand stage would not have accommodated a regular grand piano, so the legion was fortunate in being able to find this baby grand at the Barnes-Shuck establishment.

FORESTERS INITIATE SEVEN CANDIDATES

The meeting of Glen-Eagle Court, Foresters of America, last night at the Knights of Pythias hall at Park avenue and Brand boulevard, was featured by the initiation of seven candidates and the transaction of much business of interest to the members in this jurisdiction.

At the conclusion of the meeting a program of great interest was presented under the direction of Secretary Charles W. Letts, jr. Seven exceptionally good numbers were offered and received with great enthusiasm, after which a hot lunch was served to the 50 odd in attendance.

The program was given by: Monte Weeks, burlesque Hawaiian dancer; Lawrence Bishop in character songs; Oswald Duval, contortionist; Joe V. Griffin, monologue; Herbert Henning, vocalist and jazz pianist; Reggie Bernard, "The Rube Kid"; Stepper and Twist in "The Auctioneers."

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—William E. Mason, former United States senator from Illinois and at present representative at large from the same state, died at his Congress Hall apartment here, at 6:30 o'clock today, after a short illness with heart disease.

DUBLIN, June 16.—The allegation of Rear Admiral Sims, U. S. N., that Americans lost their lives in the war as a result of Sinn Fein activities was denied today by the Freeman's Journal. "The 'die hards' who have been exploiting Admiral Sims' anti-Irishism, are gravely chagrined at his recall by Secretary of the Navy Denby," said the Freeman Journal. "Admiral Sims is not an American. He is British-born. Throughout his whole career he has shown himself more British than American. The explosion against Ireland was not the explosion of an American officer, but a Canadian Orangeman."

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The United States shipping board will sign an agreement formally ending the marine strike tonight, so far as government ships are concerned, according to a statement made today by Secretary of Labor Davis.

CLEVELAND, O., June 16.—Dissatisfied with an arbitral award of $1.04 per hour, union bricklayers here went on strike again this morning, practically tying up all building construction in Cuyahoga county.

FOUNTAINBLEAU, France, June 16.—Miss Alexa Stirling won her way into the semifinal round of the French women's open golf tourney here today, defeating Mrs. Thurston Wright of Pittsburg, 8 up and 6 to play.

PARIS, June 16.—A series of compromise conferences were begun at the foreign office today to determine the amount that each of the European powers shall get from the installments of German indemnity already paid. This question was thought to have been settled at Spa, but some of the nations took exceptions to this pro rata shares that were allotted by the supreme council. Delegates representing the finance ministers of all the interested powers are taking part in the conference.

DENVER, Colo., June 16.—Politics and the Irish question will keep the convention of the American Federation of Labor seething from now on, according to developments today. The movement to oust Samuel Gompers, for 39 years head of the federation, has come to life with a bang. The campaign to elect John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America, the largest union in the federation, is now in the open.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Private bankers have agreed to raise $50,000,000 for the relief of the livestock and wool producers. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced today. New York bankers have agreed to of a professional decorator. Enhancing and illuminating the scene from the left hand side was a floor lamp and shade, in which the pink and blue color scheme was repeated in a design of great beauty created and executed by Miss June Hurlbert as a bridal gift for her sister.

Rev. Clyde Shepard, formerly pastor of the Mount Hollywood Congregational church, but now of Pomona, was the officiating clergyman.

The charming bride was gowned in cream satin garnished with real princess lace, wore the conventional wedding veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. Attending her as maid of honor was Miss Grace Doughty of Hollywood, in pink crepe de chine, other attendants being Miss June Hurlbert in blue chiffon over pink satin, and Miss Evelyn Henderson, cousin of the bride, in a gown of orchid color. Each girl carried a bouquet of maidenhair fern and sweet peas.

Strewn with blossoms the path of the bride, who was given away by her father, were three little flower girls, two of them cousins of the girl they were serving—little Marian Collard of Portland and Jennie Dawley of Los Angeles. The third, Barbara Jean Vincent, is a niece of the groom. Supporting the groom as best man was his brother, Melvin J. Vincent, the other attendants and escorts of the maids being the brothers of the bride, Harold and Russell Hurlbert.

Following the ceremony and congratulation of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent by guests numbering about 75, a wedding supper was served at beautifully appointed tables spread under fine old trees in the garden, and in due time the bride slipped away to doff her wedding dress for a going away gown of blue tricotine with which she wore a millinery confection of gray and orchid.

After the usual obstacles had been overcome the young people, showered with rice and pelted with old shoes, escaped for their honeymoon which is to last about two months and which is to take them to Berkeley and to the Yosemite valley. On their return they will select a home in Glendale although Mr. Vincent's business is in Hollywood.

Their wedding gifts will give them a fine start in the furnishing of the home as they include three sets of furniture for bedroom, dining-room and parlor respectively; two cases of silver, cut glass, china, linen, many sorts of electric appliances, carving sets, fancy silver, glass and china articles, rugs and other things too numerous to mention which will there find a place and use.

A special guest was the grandmother of the bride who came from Portland, Ore., to be present at the ceremony. A group of friends were there from San Diego, and there were many from Los Angeles, Hollywood and Huntington Park. The Glendale list included Mrs. Adelaide Imler, her daughter Marjorie Imler, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Eugene Imler, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hickman, Miss Cora Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Van Hazelen, Mrs. James H. Cunningham.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary Bryant

Mrs. Mary Bryant, who has been a resident of Glendale for 16 years, passed away June 15, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Gillies of 117 South Belmont street. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m., Friday afternoon, at the Jewel City Undertaking company. The interment will be at the Grand View cemetery.

raise half of this sum and western bankers will raise the remainder. This private financing of the livestock and wool industry will obviate the necessity of legislation appropriating $50,000,000 for this purpose, which has been proposed to congress.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Between 500 and 600 Thompson machine guns and other war materials which were seized on board the freighter East Side, in the belief that they were consigned to the Irish republican army were under a joint guard of policemen and federal customs officers in Hoboken today while the United States authorities made an investigation to try to find out who had purchased the arms, who had shipped them and the identity of the consignee. The war supplies were taken from the freighter just before she sailed from New York. Her ultimate destination is an Irish port.

MANY SALES OF GLENDALE REALTY

Real estate activities in Glendale have never been as lagging as those of many other places, and are now decidedly on the upward trend as the following transactions made recently by the Glendale Realty company, 103½ South Brand boulevard, indicate.

This company has recently sold two lots on North Kenwood street to C. Hunt; a lot on South Brand boulevard, business property, to Clarence Kaighin; a lot on Cameron place to M. Gannon; a house on East Dryden to Mrs. Cecelia Loftus; a house on West Hawthorne to J. W. Doty; a lot on North Howard to V. Krenzer; a house on East Dryden to J. Bronson; a lot on North Isabel to Herman Hanson; a lot on Myrtle street to Tony Romero; a house on West Vine to C. E. Norton; a business lot on Glendale avenue to A. R. Rose, and a lot on South Kenwood to J. Hartley Taylor of the Taylor Milling company.

who is suing for a divorce, sprang a surprise upon Mrs. Stillman and her attorneys by introducing four French-Canadian witnesses when the hearing was resumed today before Referee Daniel Gleason.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 16.—Lightning today had claimed four victims in electrical storms which have visited Central Illinois in the past three days. Allen Sturdy of Woodson, the fourth victim, was working in a field when struck. Two others near him at the time were severely injured.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The mad career of Herbert P. Ziegler, amidst "wine, women and song," on the tragic night of his death, was revealed in lurid detail today at the trial of Cosa Isabelle Orthwein, charged with his slaying. A crowded courtroom before Judge Francis A. Wilson heard witnesses, who were to include Mrs. Charlotte Lewinsky, the "kissing blonde," tell of the events which preceded the killing.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Raymond Lee Hoover, of Louisville, Ky., who claims to be a "first cousin of Secretary Herbert Hoover, sir," awoke today in the county jail following charges of bigamy brought by Mrs. Pearl Holbert Hoover, his second wife.

Hoover awoke in the same cell recently occupied by "Cousin" Everett Harding. Jail officials said they intended reserving the place for "cousins" of statesmen.

Hoover, 33, is alleged to have been married three times. His latest matrimonial adventure was yesterday, when he married Hattie Algrim. Hoover declared his second marriage was a "fake." He admitted having a ten-year-old daughter by the first marriage.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Twelve million dollars today await Charles Edgar Spencer Churchill, cowboy from Calgary, Canada, according to word received by the Chicago police. "Ned" Churchill, as the cattlemen knew him, disappeared December 19, 1919, while enroute to Chicago with 20 cars of cattle and has not been heard from since. He fell heir to the XC ranch when his father died.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Convinced that there is but one "mail bandit" gang operating in the middle west and that it has been responsible for looting Uncle Sam's mails of some $5,000,000, federal operatives today were ferreting out hidden channels in the postal hold-ups. Their theory, plainly expressed, is that "Big Tim" Murphy, political and labor leader now reposing in the Joliet jail, constituted the brains of the mail bandits operating from Omaha to Toledo.

SOCIETY IS BLAMED FOR CONVICTS Failing to Reform

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 16.—Circumstance, oftener than viciousness, is the cause of crime. And good fortune is just as frequently attributable to this strange combination of events.

Men have stumbled over rich bits of ore; the well, dug for water, may sprout wealth-bringing oil; the auto that hits a man and injures him may perhaps bring a benefactor who will change his whole life.

Through an odd series of happenings, the Prisoners' Relief Society of Washington, D. C., was brought into being by E. E. Dudding, who had once been a prisoner himself. Recently his history was heard, and that of the organization, from Mrs. S. H. McIntyre, its secretary, now in New York city.

Mrs. McIntyre, who is well informed on the various aspects of criminology, discussed some of them. "Nine out of ten crimes are caused by circumstances," declares Mrs. McIntyre.

"Sometimes these circumstances occur early in the victim's life, the result of poor home surroundings. Then we call it a bad environment. But it's really circumstance. Under the stress of excitement men and women commit crime—for the first time. Maybe a prison sentence follows.

Release is Man's Turning Point
"Then, after release or parole comes the delicate question of handling the ex-convict. That will be the whole turning point of his career.

"We claim that society is at fault for the second offender. "The general public must be educated to accept the view that the ex-convict can be made its worthy asset instead of a creature to be shunned and feared. That attitude is greatly to blame for the second offenders. Heretofore it has been: "Once a criminal, always a criminal." All wrong. All that is needed is a helping hand.

"Give ex-convicts a second chance and 90 per cent will make good. "The Prisoners' Relief Society was started by a man who was given a second chance by his employers. But he felt after a while that his presence was perhaps embarrassing them, so he resigned of his own free will.

"This is E. E. Dudding, head of our organization. To defend himself in a quarrel, he killed his uncle. He had to go to prison for a short time and, though brief, the term made him an ex-convict in the eyes of the world.

"He devoted himself to the convict, and now he is very successful in helping other men to come back. "The ex-convict is not afraid to tell his troubles to Mr. Dudding because he knows he is understood when he learns that his protector was once behind the bars himself.

"The paroled prisoner is better off than the released man, because to secure parole a man must have a job awaiting him when freed. "First Friend" Looks After Man
"We get the released man a 'first friend' in whatever city he wishes to go to. That means the 'friend' will get him a job, and only the employer is to know the secret of the prison term.

"This means a lot to the convict released with only a cheap suit of clothes and $5 in his pocket. "Such a man must be rescued or he will return to jail as a second offender, a hardened criminal.

"Our society, which aims to do just this work of rescue, was founded about seven years ago. Now many important men and women are back of it. They cooperate in getting jobs for those brought by circumstance into crime. We have helped over 56,000 men and women both, since our beginning.

"Men eligible for parole, or about to be released, can write to us and we send them blanks to fill out; we also send a blank to the warden of the prison. If the convict is a farmer, plumber, doctor, lawyer—no matter what—we get him work in his own line.

"Picture the plight of the man out of prison after a term! He feels the world is against him and he is not far from right in his judgment. He finds it hard to deal with people.

Mr. Dudding Given Many Rebuffs
"That was the identical experience of our head, Mr. Dudding. Though his firm, in Chicago, was very willing to take him back, others were not so kind. He was made to feel his disgrace by customers and associates, so he has consecrated his life to helping other men.

"In Washington alone, we have placed 600 ex-convicts. One man, formerly a safe cracker, is now the trusted and respected cashier of a big corporation. He has gone straight, and so can anyone who wants to and who gets a little help.

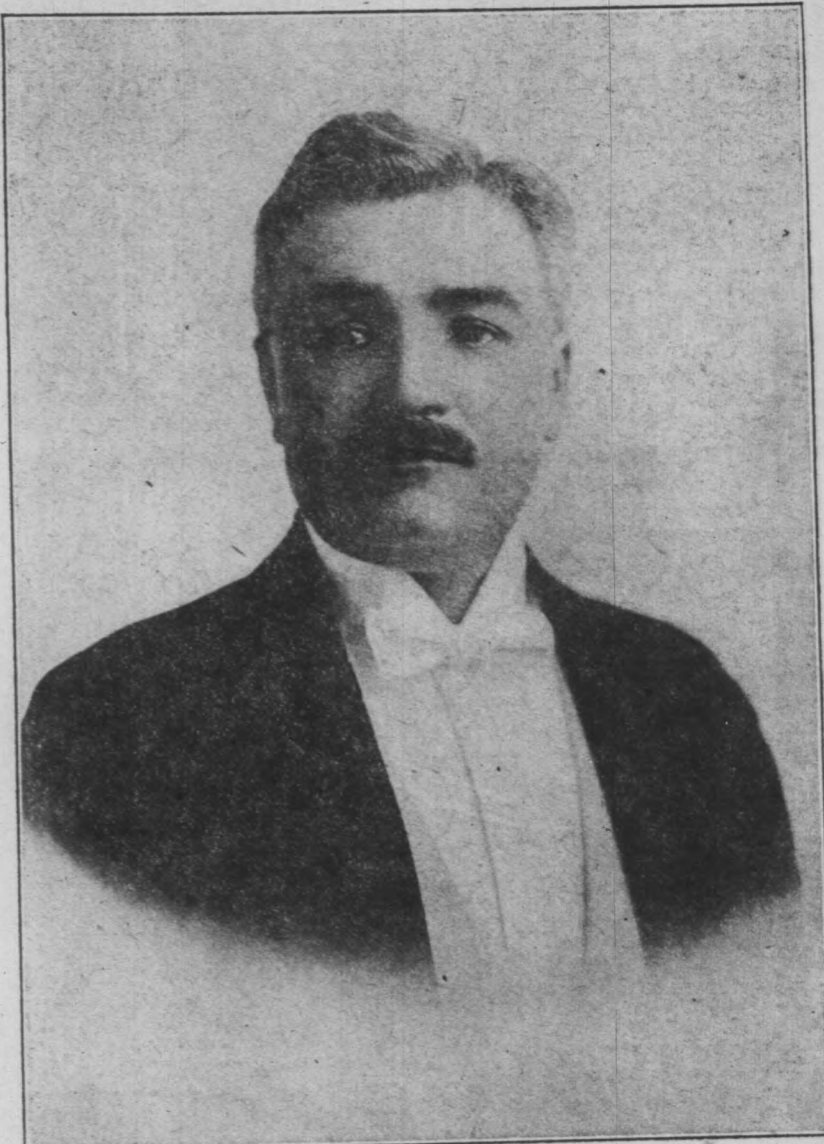

"The helping hand is the one thing that will prevent the first offender from going back to prison. That will protect not only the ex-convict, but the public that scorns him, too.

JOSEPH DUPUY AND HIS ORPHEUS CLUB

Organization Has Been in Existence 16 Years and Produced Many Artists

According to data furnished by Joseph Dupuy, the able director of the Orpheus club, which has been secured for the fine concert to be given in the Tabernacle, June 24, this club was organized in 1905 and is therefore 16 years old. The 16 years have been fruitful in development and the organization now ranks second to none of its kind in the United States, in the opinion of many musicians qualified to pass judgment. In 1915 it went to the San Francisco exposition and there won the first prize of $3000. Since its organization hundreds of young men have been graduated into professional life as singers in concert, opera and church choirs, and 50 per cent of its present membership is made up of soloists in the churches of Los Angeles and surrounding cities. One of its choicest programs is to be given on the 24th in conjunction with the numbers of the Zoellner quartet.

When Mr. Dupuy was asked the other day to what he attributed his remarkable success in the training of men singers, he named three things that to him seemed important, viz.: That he was born in France and taught by his father and his grand father the correct use of the voice; education in America which has enabled him to adapt French ways 100 years old to the American refinements of today; and keeping up to date in everything musical and striving to always lead instead of follow the procession.

For the opportunity to hear this famous club of men singers Glendale is greatly indebted first to Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, chairman of the music committee of the Christian Endeavor convention, and second to her able coadjutor, Howard Brown, who assisted in securing the talent.

JOHN T. ADAMS OF IOWA IS CHAIRMAN

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—John T. Adams of Iowa, who has been elected chairman of the Republican national committee to succeed Postmaster General Will H. Hays, has been a party wheel horse for years, and few men have worked harder or more faithfully for the Republican return to power and affluence than John T. Adams of Iowa.

Adams acted as vice chairman of the Republican national committee during Hays' regime. Adams was a candidate for the post of chairman against Hays four years ago. In St. Louis in 1916 it is said everything was cut and dried by the committee which met to take stock of things before the convention and that it was then decided that the chairmanship after the family of the imprisoned man while he is in jail, thereby sustaining their courage and preventing them from getting unfortunate ideas about the injustice of things and perhaps committing crime themselves."

DANCE PLANNED FOR JUNE 28

Mary Jane Gillette Tent, Daughters of Veterans, held a most successful business meeting on Tuesday evening. Among other business matters transacted, plans were made for a dance on the night of election day, June 28, to celebrate the success of the winners, whoever they may be. Hennings orchestra has been secured for the occasion, which insures the success of the affair.

The comfort auctioned off by the ladies netted them $10, and was won by Comrade Robert Taylor, of the local G. A. R. post, who is well supplied now with quilts, the Kensington Club of the Relief Corps having given him a beautiful one on his birthday recently.

How Ma's Cooking Saved the Day

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"She's as good as gold, when you come to know her, but her manners—I don't see how ever we will stand them!" Truitte's wife said to her next-door neighbor in a deep blue tone that was betwixt rebellion and resignation.

"Bossy or quarrelsome?" asked the neighbor. "John's mother is that sort—I just won't put up with her."

"No, no," Mrs. Truitte interrupted. "A baa-lamb has got nothing on ma for peaceableness. But—she's so awfully friendly—she'll try to neighbor with everybody—from the janitor to those studio-grandeers up at the top. I don't believe she sees any difference in folks so long as they have eyes, ears and a soul. And she's like molasses—seeping in through the least little crack, ready to be seeped in on herself. And helpful—don't mind setting her hand to anything whatever. Once she took home a clothes basket of laundry because it was too big and heavy for the boy who was trying to carry it. The Glennon's laundry at that—they are the big-rich folks of our home town.

"The footman laughed in her face—she never would tell what she said to him—but afterward the Glennons looked out for their washerwoman—so I didn't mind so much—everybody there knew ma—here she'll be lost and strange as a cat in a new garret. I don't want people to look down on her—and we can't afford to have them look down on us, because of her, with Henry Junior partner, and not yet quite used to it, and us beginning to know the nicest sort of people."

"I see!" The neighbor's tone was acid—her mouth shut with a snap. Evidently here was a case for watchful waiting—those uppish Truittes were due to get their come-uppance—and likely to get it good and hard. Serve them right, too. But the envious wrinkles had been smoothed from her tongue as she said over her shoulder: "I'll come in real soon to see her—maybe I can be some help to you."

A futile promise, kept as to the coming in, but no more. Ma's friendliness was proof against advice, insinuation, even mild rallery. She made extremes meet by yanking a cent from the throat of the janitor's baby, and capturing and returning a parrot escaped from the biggest studio, which after sidling through an open door, made up its mind to waddle down two flights of stairs, then give its imitation of a qualling baby right at the Truitte's door.

Young Mrs. Truitte was out, else the bird would have gone back by way of the elevator boy with the capor's compliments—Mrs. Bessie was simply aching to make touch with its owners. That was impossible now that ma had obeyed the bird's order to "Sit down! down! and behave!" in the very middle of afternoon tea. She had further refused tea, but said mildly: "I'd not bat my eye over a taste of that entic' rum."

Ma yearned over every baby in the apartment house, but dared not take them out, in fear equally of autos and kidnappers. But she made herself so free in eager kindness, Bessie could not write under the indifference or the scarcely veiled amusement of their receivers. She felt as though her walls were of glass, with those about her peeping derisively through them. Yet she could not complain—Henry loved his mother devotedly, as became an only child, and chuckled over some of the happenings that brought his wife to angry tears.

To Bessie's amazement ma, the helpful, did not meddle the least in household affairs. Unasked she did not go near the kitchen, though always ready to lend a hand at need to the smart and rather pert maid-of-all-work.

With wages what they were Bessie had refrained from getting a second

GRANITE EFFECT TO CONCRETE BLOCKS AT LOWER PRICES

R. E. Taylor, mechanical engineer and inventor, who resides at 1239 South Glendale avenue, has an interesting story of how a granite effect may be given to concrete building blocks, at a cost much lower than real granite; while the enduring qualities of the new material and great beauty are equal to those of granite.

This new building material, Mr. Taylor says, is already being used in the east by a man who found a mountain of the proper stone to surface the concrete blocks to give the granite effect at a cost that enables even ordinary mortals to dream that they may dwell in marble halls.

At present the transportation rates prohibit the shipping of this material to the west, but some one reading Mr. Taylor's article may locate the stone in this state and begin the new industry here. Mr. Taylor's description follows:

"The eruptive rock granite has for ages held a leading place as one of the most enduring and beautiful stones for structural work. The cost of preparing for building purposes has naturally restricted its use in the past. If we examine this rock we will find it is crystalline granular, and consists of quartz and orthoclase feldspar. Orthoclase feldspar is always the predominant ingredient and generally determines the color of the granite. Orthoclase is a division of the feldspar family of rocks whose principal parts are the oxides of potassium, sodium, calcium, aluminum and silica.

"The most characteristic colors are white, gray, pinkish and flesh-red. "When granite contains mica (biotite) it is readily distinguished by a scattering of glistening black particles throughout its structure, which impart the rich color.

"If we could veneer the surface of a concrete block with a beautiful grade of granite cheaply, it would, no doubt, be in great demand.

"Other than a source of supply, there would be mechanical difficulties in crushing granite to the required size. Recently, an enterprising business man, who knew where there existed in the eastern part of the United States a mountain consisting of feldspar containing a liberal portion of mica (biotite), conceived the idea of crushing the stone and selling it to concrete building-block manufacturers.

"Today, there are being sold building blocks with this semi-pulverized stone spread on the exposed surface of the concrete. There are two general methods of applying this feldspar. First, where there is only one face to be exposed, the feldspar is spread first on the bottom of the mold. Second (called 'undercuts exist'), the feldspar is blown on the wet concrete block by the aid of a pneumatic gun. When the block has become set, a beautiful selected granite stone is produced. This effect can be produced so cheaply that concrete granite is now within reach of most of us.

"At the present time, transportation rates prohibit shipping this stone to our western coast. But someone locating out here such a stone would establish the possibility of such an industry being created."

BIRTHS

James Lee Henderson, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Henderson are rejoicing over the arrival of James Lee Henderson, Jr., who was born last night at the Burbank hospital. He is a lusty fellow weighing 9 1/2 pounds, and mother and son are doing well. Mr. Henderson is the manager of the Davis-Glendale Greenhouse company, located at the point on San Fernando road where the Pacific Electric-Burbank line crosses that state highway and his home is near the greenhouses. Mrs. James Robinson, mother of Mrs. Henderson, arrived from Pittsburg about three weeks ago and is a guest in her daughter's home.
